Early Childhood Services have begun to explore the benefits of linking sustainability education with Australian Indigenous cultural education. Cultural education and sustainability education can be woven through one another in wonderfully productive ways that emphasise the importance of both priorities.

The Staff from Playschool Kindergarten Early Learning will be sharing with us some thoughts around their journey in developing sustainable practice. Specifically, the staff will share their ongoing process of developing their Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP), some ideas for including Indigenous Cultural perspectives in our daily programs as well as some feedback following their recent Assessment and Ratings visit.
